“ Jennifer, I walked in your room and cried. How your 3 wishes are being fought over, I know this is sad and yet I wish I didn't have to fight for you. I know that is the task and the reason you left Shell and I things to do as you knew we would fight for you.

“ Oh, sweet child. I can't believe you are gone! I still see you as that precious 4 year old looking for Easter eggs, We had matching dresses that year. A pretty little red and white flower print...Bibbie found that material and told me that you and I would be so pretty in dresses that matched! Then you grew up and had babies of your own. Ganmaw and Pop Bill rushed to meet their great grandchildren. You were loved, precious one. Be at peace.
